BOXED ESSENTIAL OIL COLLECTION

Box Includes: 0.5 oz bottle of essential oil, suggested uses, safety information, coupons and more!

Clove Bud

Clove bud essential oil is distilled from the dried, unopened flower buds of a tropical tree...it is the same spice used to season baked goods.

Aromatherapy: Clove bud contains the constituent eugenol. The spicy, familiar aroma of clove calls to mind baked goods and evokes feelings of comfort and security associated with home.

Eucalyptus

Eucalyptus essential oil is the distilled, medicinal essence of fresh eucalyptus leaves. The aroma is fresh, camphor, forest-like and penetrating.

Aromatherapy: Eucalyptus oil has a strong forest-like aroma that is known for its purifying and clearing aromatherapy benefits. The vapors of eucalyptus essential oil are reviving and help to open the breathing and clear the head. The aroma purifies physical and spiritual space.

Lavender

Lavender essential oil is distilled from the herb of the same name when it is in full flower. The essence smells of soft blossoms, sweet hay and warm summer air.

Aromatherapy: Lavender provides calming and relaxing aromatherapy benefits. Inhaling the aroma of lavender will help dispel anxiety, and comfort the mind, body, and spirit. Used in a bath or massage application, lavender will only enhance the experience. Lavender vapors help to gently open the breathing while purifying the air.

Peppermint

Peppermint essential oil is distilled from fresh, peppermint leaves and flower buds. The aroma is fresh, menthol, penetrating, sweet and bracing.

Aromatherapy: Diffuse peppermint or mix with water in a spray mister and use as an air purifier and deodorizer. Get relief from the heat by sprinkling a cold compress with a little peppermint. Clear the head by simply wafting the open bottle of peppermint under the nose. The vapors of peppermint essential oil are reviving, a more natural version of harsh, chemical smelling salts.

Sweet Orange

Sweet orange essential oil is expressed from the fresh rind of the same fruit that yields orange juice. Like other citrus oils such as grapefruit and tangerine, sweet orange is cold-pressed from the plant instead of the typical steam distillation.

Aromatherapy: Sweet orange is adaptable, being refreshing on the one hand and familiar and comforting on the other. The overall benefit is balancing, inspiring alertness and creativity while soothing anxiety and agitation.

Tea Tree

Tea tree essential oil is distilled from the fresh green leaves and twigs of the Australian melaleuca shrub. A different plant from the tea you drink, tea tree has a spicy, fresh therapeutic aroma that reminds some of nutmeg.

Aromatherapy: Tea tree is highly regarded in aromatherapy for its cleansing, purifying and protecting properties. The bracing, spicy-medicinal aroma enlivens the senses and awakens the spirit.
